MEET SAILROCK OWNERS

Jimmy Goldsmith and Kim Kaufman

Jimmy Goldsmith and Kim Kaufman have a love of beauty and adventure. They are inspired by the versatile excitement of visiting new, visually stunning destinations. Sailrock provides the couple with an unbeatable combination of awe-inspiring natural beauty and incredible out-island adventure, complemented with top-notch amenities and the warmest staff ever experienced by Jimmy and Kim during their travels.

Originally stumbling upon Sailrock online, Jimmy was at first nervous to visit Sailrock Resort so recently after its Grand Opening. However, intrigued by the possibility of extravagant luxury in a one-of-a-kind location, the couple took the plunge, visiting the island for the first time in February 2017. "We had one of those reactions you always dream about," Jimmy said of the couple's initial reaction to Sailrock.

"We fell in love with the whole package," Kim explained of their following decision to invest in a second home in the Sailrock Living community. "It just made sense to purchase a villa."

Along with the breathtaking shorelines and endless opportunities for adventure, the couple was taken with the local culture and the dedication of the Sailrock team, which made the process of purchasing a Beachfront Villa at Sailrock Resort simple and straightforward. "We have only just closed on our villa, but our entire experience with the Sailrock organization has been welcoming," Kim said. She and her husband were especially impressed with the hospitality of the Sailrock team. Kim noted of the staff, "We can't say enough about their kindness and professionalism."

Sailrock's commitment to preserving and enhancing the local community and culture powerfully resonated with Jimmy and Kim, inspiring the couple to get involved with the local high school. There, they hope to help rebuild the library and improve the technological resources available to students. Jimmy and Kim are eager to immerse themselves in South Caicos' culinary scene as well. The couple has an eye on a former waterfront salt storage building, which they are considering reinventing as a restaurant and bar. "We can't help ourselves!" said Kim of the couple's enthusiasm to further enrich the island community by creating more dining options.

MEET YOUR SAILROCK TEAM

Spa Manager Juni Erawati

Sailrock is delighted to introduce Juni Erawati as the Resort's Spa Manager. Juni oversees the operations of Na Spa, a highlight of the Sailrock experience named for the elemental abbreviation of sodium on the periodic table. The name Na Spa recognizes the rich and historic salt ponds native to South Caicos. The comprehensive and restorative spa offers the best in relaxation, from traditional Balinese spa treatments to hot stone massages. These treatments ensure guests unwind and restore to their fullest.

Juni's myriad of responsibilities include fashioning new therapeutic treatment and beauty offerings, maintaining the spa menu, hiring and training staff, and guaranteeing a relaxing, rejuvenating and memorable spa experience for Resort guests and walk-in clients alike. With Na Spa set to expand in 2018, Juni will soon oversee a plethora of new and invigorating treatments as well, such as cleansing salt scrubs.

Initially drawn to her field by curiosity, Juni has spent nearly all her hospitality career focused on spas and wellness. She joined the Sailrock Resort team from COMO Hotels & Resorts where, over her nine-year tenure, she had a managerial role at spas in Bali and Cocoa Island in the Maldives. She was Assistant Spa Manager at the latter for almost five years.

Born and raised in the small, beautiful village of Angseri, in Indonesia, Juni earned her degree in Hotel Administration from Sekolah Tinggi Pariwisata Bali (The Bali Tourism Institute) in Nusa Dua, Bali. She lives in South Caicos where, when not actively engaged at Na Spa, she enjoys listening to music, watching movies, and collecting and reading romance novels.

CHARITY SPOTLIGHT

The School for Field Studies

Sailrock is always excited to share the good works completed by local organizations throughout the island, such as the work of The School for Field Studies (SFS). This world-renowned institution and its students never fail to foster community engagement within the greater island community, including in the water, on the field and in the classroom. Local kids love learning and growing through this dynamic community partnership, while SFS students embrace this engagement not only as a chance to give back, but also as a unique opportunity to immerse themselves in the exciting and distinct Caribbean culture that enlivens the island. This enriching collaboration has fostered a robust cultural exchange that benefits the entire Sailrock community.

The naturally beautiful landscape of South Caicos is the foundation for the recreational activities and sports that South Caicos youth and SFS students so enjoy. With miles of undisturbed coastline, it's no surprise swimming is a way of life in South Caicos. SFS students teach South Caicos youth how to tackle the waves and safely enjoy the vast blue ocean. Local kids then practice their new skills during open swims at the Center for Marine Resources pool every Saturday afternoon. The students of SFS also team up with the community to promote the popular island sport of soccer by organizing practices, clinics and tournaments.

SFS engages the community with indoor activities as well. SFS students visit a local elementary school weekly where they provide tutoring, homework help, and arts and crafts workshops. The exchange between the students—both grade school and university age—helps endlessly enhance and grow the island's unique and diverse society.

Keep up the good work SFS!
